Dear Tracey,

I do hope you're well. I was going to copy a paragraph from the book I'm reading ('The Dyked Enigma', a book about alien sightings in West Wales during the late '70s), but I've just realised that isn't allowed. I know that content isn't important to you but rest assured, I am one of the most competent content providers in the UK, certainly from Carmarthen. I am right handed and am 40 years old. I must admit, I don't write as much as I used to, and it has suffered a bit - certainly at school it was far better.

I'm afraid I need to sign off now, I do hope that you've got enough to go on, and that my writing ~~doesn't~~ doesn't reveal me to be a murderer.

All the best,

(Elis James)
